Peakdale Quarry Products are suppliers of decorative aggregates, sand, gravel, slate and other stone products to the landscaping and construction industry throughout the United Kingdom. Our customer base includes builders merchants, D.I.Y outlets, garden centres, local authorities and contractors.

Our materials are selected from premier sources from the United Kingdom and abroad. We pride ourselves in offering our customers a product matching service which covers existing and new projects with natural stone products to suit their varied requirements.

Operating from our site in Alfreton, Derbyshire we have access to another six group owned depots. This allows us national coverage with our dedicated modern fleet of tipper and flat back wagons and offer delivery solutions to suit all our customers' requirements.

All products shown in this brochure are shown when wet and the colour can be different when dry. All photos are representative of the product but no guarantees are given that products supplied will match exactly due to the natural colour variation of aggregates. We reserve the right to amend/replace or remove any product from the range without notice. All products are subject to availability. Printing processes can alter the natural colour of the aggregates shown and representative samples are available on request.

Decorative Aggregates

Our decorative products are sourced mainly from the UK to reduce the environmental impact of transporting products over long distances, with a select few imported from Europe where there is no alternative.

These aggregates look good whether used on their own, on paths and driveways, or to complement our range of paving and setts.

All of these products are available in medium and bulk bags, or loose.

If the size or colour you are looking for is not shown, please get in touch.

'Iron staining' is a totally natural occurrence that can affect some stones when exposed to the environment. Products that may contain iron traces are marked within a box like this.

Whilst iron staining can cosmetically change and alter the appearance of affected areas it has no detrimental effect on the render itself.

All products shown in this brochure are shown when wet and the colour can be different when dry. All photos are representative of the product but no guarantees are given that products supplied will match exactly due to the natural colour variation of aggregates. We reserve the right to amend/replace or remove any product from the range without notice. All products are subject to availability.
